2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

This report makes reference to the following document:

D1: WO 92/10218 A (W.L. GORE & ASSOCIATES INC) 25 June 1992 (1992-06-25)

D1 is regarded as the prior art closest to the subject matter of claim 1. It discloses (the reference signs in parentheses refer to D1):

a flat surgical insert (page 5, lines 18-25, figure 1) for preventing tissue adhesion in operation areas, in particular for post-operative care after pericardial, peritoneal or gynecological operations, comprising

- at least one layer of a thin, smooth, bioabsorbable film (12, page 5, lines 18-25, figure 1)

- a stabilizing layer, in the form of a reinforcing matrix (10, page 5, lines 18-25, figure 1) made of synthetic material, connected to the film layer (12, page 5, lines 18-25,

Box No. V Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

The subject matter of claim 1 differs from the known flat insert in that the reinforcing matrix has a continuous metal-containing coating that is compatible with the body.

Therefore, in view of the differences in the subject matter, claim 1 is novel and meets the requirements of PCT Article 33(2).

The effect of said flat insert structure is regarded as that of improved mechanical stability in the operation area and improved compatibility of the synthetic reinforcing matrix remaining in the patient's body.

Therefore, the problem to be solved can be regarded as that of providing a flat surgical insert with long-term mechanical stability and compatibility with the body.

Although D1 proposes a flat insert with a smooth bioabsorbable film and tissue (page 5, lines 18-25, figure 1), there is nothing that suggests that this flat insert fulfills a stabilizing function in the body of the patient over the long term, after the film has disintegrated, by means of a coated reinforcement matrix.

Therefore, in view of the prior art cited in the international search report, the subject matter of the invention according to claim 1 appears to involve an inventive step and therefore to meet the requirements of PCT Article 33(3).

Flat surgical inserts for preventing tissue adhesion in operation areas according to claim 1 can be manufactured industrially and therefore also meet the requirements of PCT Article 33(4).

Claims 2-8 are dependent on claim 1 and therefore likewise meet the PCT requirements for novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability.
